Introduction

Behavioral research suggests that the most effective people are those who understand themselves, both their strengths and weaknesses, so they can develop strategies to meet the demands of their environment.

A person's behavior is a necessary and integral part of who they are. In other words, much of our behavior comes from "nature" (inherent), and much comes from "nurture" (our upbringing). It is the universal language of "how we act," or our observable human behavior.

In this report we are measuring four dimensions of normal behavior. They are:

- how you respond to problems and challenges.
- how you influence others to your point of view.
- how you respond to the pace of the environment.
- how you respond to rules and procedures set by others.

This report analyzes behavioral style; that is, a person's manner of doing things. Is the report 100% true? Yes, no and maybe. We are only measuring behavior. We only report statements from areas of behavior in which tendencies are shown. To improve accuracy, feel free to make notes or edit the report regarding any statement from the report that may or may not apply, but only after checking with friends or colleagues to see if they agree.

*"All people exhibit all four behavioral factors in varying degrees of intensity."
—W.M. Marston*

General Characteristics Continued

Juliane can be outgoing at times. Basically introverted, she will engage in social conversation when the occasion warrants. She likes to ask questions to clarify the communications. She gathers data in order to be certain she is correct in her work, communications or decision making. She does not seek confrontation, but if she is confronted, she will present her case with enough supportive data that she will probably win. Because Juliane prefers logical information, she likes people who communicate all the facts in logical order. Random facts in a haphazard format tend to distract and annoy her. Juliane does not like to work for a manager who uses a confrontational management style. She tends to withdraw and not express herself, and may become unproductive if she feels threatened. She enjoys analyzing the motives of others. This allows her to develop her intuitive skills. She is patient and persistent in her approach to achieving goals. She responds to challenges in a cooperative manner and wants the "team" to win without the need of a perceived "shining star." She wants to establish good will with others and to influence them in a friendly and sociable manner.

Time Wasters Continued

SEEKING THE BEST, BUT NOT NECESSARILY WORKABLE SOLUTIONS

Always seeking the best solution may prohibit getting the task accomplished. Something better is always on the horizon.

POSSIBLE CAUSES:

- Want to do things right the first time
- Want personal approval for preciseness of work
- Fear criticism if solution doesn't work

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS:

- Establish required standards
- Determine the solution that meets or exceeds those standards
- Set a timeline for making a decision or completing a task

FEAR OF MISTAKES

Fearing mistakes is the mental process of focusing on negative outcomes and is often a preoccupation with past mistakes.

POSSIBLE CAUSES:

- Want to avoid criticism
- Take criticism personally
- Want to be seen as efficient and competent

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS:

- Practice focusing on past successes
- For every mistake that you think might happen, write down two positive possible outcomes for a completed task
- Focus on several possible future outcomes

Checklist for Communicating

This section of the report is a lists of things to DO when communicating with you. Read each statement and then identify 3 or 4 that are most important to your optimal use of time. By sharing this information with others, the better they can plan meetings, presentations and informal discussions. This will result in more efficient and time saving the communications.

Ways to Communicate

- Support your communications with correct facts and data.
- Give her time to verify reliability of your comments--be accurate and realistic.
- Give her time to verify reliability of your actions; be accurate, realistic.
- Support her principles; use a thoughtful approach; build your credibility by listing pros and cons to any suggestion you make.
- Take time to be sure that she is in agreement and understands what you said.
- Be sincere and use a tone of voice that shows sincerity.
- Give her time to be thorough, when appropriate.
- Make an organized contribution to her efforts, present specifics and do what you say you can do.
- Prepare your "case" in advance.
- Follow through, if you agree.
- Draw up a scheduled approach to implementing action with a step-by-step timetable; assure her that there won't be surprises.
- Make an organized presentation of your position, if you disagree.

Checklist for Communicating Continued

This section of the report is a list of things NOT to do while communicating with you. Read each statement and identify those that cause the most frustration. By sharing this information, both parties can avoid time wasting interactions and achieve more effective communications.

Ways NOT to Communicate

- Use gimmicks or clever, quick manipulations.
- Talk in a loud voice or use confrontation.
- Rush the decision-making process.
- Use testimonies of unreliable sources; don't be haphazard.
- Threaten, cajole, wheedle, coax or whimper.
- Make conflicting statements.
- Make promises you cannot deliver.
- Don't be haphazard.
- Make statements about the quality of her work unless you can prove it.
- Push too hard, or be unrealistic with deadlines.
- Dillydally, or waste time.
- Talk to her when you're extremely angry.
- Be vague about what's expected of either of you; don't fail to follow through.

The Success Insights® Wheel

The Success Insights® Wheel is a powerful tool popularized in Europe. In addition to the text you have received about your behavioral style, the Wheel adds a visual representation that allows you to:

- View your natural behavioral style (circle).
- View your adapted behavioral style (star).
- Note the degree you are adapting your behavior.
- If you filled out the Work Environment Analysis, view the relationship of your behavior to your job.

Notice on the next page that your Natural style (circle) and your Adapted style (star) are plotted on the Wheel. If they are plotted in different boxes, then you are adapting your behavior. The further the two plotting points are from each other, the more you are adapting your behavior.

If you are part of a group or team who also took the behavioral assessment, it would be advantageous to get together, using each person's Wheel, and make a master Wheel that contains each person's Natural and Adapted style. This allows you to quickly see where conflict can occur. You will also be able to identify where communication, understanding and appreciation can be increased.
